

Strengthen the Means of Implementation and Revitalize the Global Partnership for Sustainable Development

17.2.1

Relationships with regional NGOs and government for SDG policy

MIU contributes to regional SDG policy development through its engagement with national and non-governmental organizations focused on public health, humanitarian action, and community resilience. Through the collaboration with the Egyptian Red Crescent, MIU Pharmacy students participated in activities centered on humanitarian law, emergency response mechanisms, and relief operations. This partnership strengthens the university's linkage with a key national NGO that plays a central role in shaping Egypt's disaster-response policies, health preparedness strategies, and community resilience frameworks.

By exposing students to real-world challenges and structured emergency interventions, MIU fosters a deeper understanding of sustainable development frameworks, while actively contributing to the policy dialogue surrounding humanitarian response, disaster risk reduction, and public health governance at the national level.
