How will you benefit?

University years are not only academic years. Activities and social life are important as well. You can benefit from activities in many ways:

- Your years at MIU will be exciting and memorable.
- You will make more friends and have more fun.
- You will gain experience and skill in whatever area the club or group is concerned with. You will also learn valuable experiences concerning leadership, organization and responsibility.
- You will learn to deal with many different kinds of people.
- Most businesses would rather hire someone who has been involved in activities rather than one who just got a very high GPA. Having worthwhile activities on your CV is definitely an asset.

How to be an active member?

You have to be:

- Energetic, by attending most of the meetings and participating in most of the club activities.
- Promising, by letting your superiors feel that you are a hard worker. Do not promise that you will do tasks that are beyond your capabilities.
- Punctual, as this is something you have to apply to your life in general. Learn to manage time.
